

Improve Your Skills

A free training makes you an expert in campaigning and project management. Apply now!
Nov 6th to Nov 17th 2017

The most motivated and engaged young people can join our trainee programme during COP. We are happy to offer four special trainings:

- A) Become a Junior Project Manager: A unique chance for you to profit from practical expertise and wide knowledge in project management.
- B) Become a Senior Project Manager: Did you already attend our Junior Project Management Training in 2016? We are happy to offer an additional training that will improve your skills.
- C) Become a Programme Coordinator: To spread Plant-for-the-Planet's idea all over the world, we are always looking for enthusiastic, reliable young people who organize local Academies and find other people to do so. Join our community now and become Programme Coordinator for your country. We will train you to do so!
- D) Become a Professional Campaigner: Experts who are leading campaigns on their own will show you how to catch attention, how to talk to the media and to politicians, how to make a good idea becoming a successful campaign and so on.

Plant-for-the-Planet is a children's and youth initiative that educates children in how to get active against the climate crisis and plants trees. 55,000 Climate Justice Ambassadors from 53 countries already attended the Plant-for-the-Planet Academies. The children and youth aim to plant 1,000 billion trees. They are responsible for the official tree counter, handed over to them in 2011 by the United Nations Environmental Program. Plant-for-the-Planet was initiated by the nine year old Felix Finkbeiner from Germany. Within the following ten years, the children and youth have planted more than 14 billion trees with the help of many adults and organizations.
